NEWS LETTER FROM EDMONTON

By T. B. Windross
Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 22.—News has been scarce in the capital during the past week, as it always is when Premier Aberhart is out of the city. He continues to be a sort of "storm centre" when at his office in the Parliament Buildings, and there is, or seems to be, much more doing there than when he is away.

Just now the premier is taking a holiday at the Pacific Coast, and speaking at one or two meetings in Vancouver while there.

The chief excitement in the past few days has been the hint thrown out by the premier and other members of the government of plans to license the newspapers. Freedom of the press and the right of free speech are the sibilists most commonly heard and read in newspaper circles.

No definite statement has been made by any member of the government on this subject beyond the suggestion that such a step might be a wise one to take. Whether it would or would not be wise is a question that would need proving.

Test cases to try out the validity of the recent debt reduction legislation passed at the special session of the legislature are a feature in the courts now. One case was withdrawn but two others are actually started or pending.

The question as to whether the acts passed are ultra vires of the provincial legislature is the main one to be settled. Critics claim that the province has no power to alter interest rates, that right being within the jurisdiction of the dominion. On the government side it will be argued that the act does not change interest rates—it only says that only 5% of the interest can be collected in the courts of the province, and the province has jurisdiction over the courts.

The creditor may charge as much interest as the dominion law will allow him to, there is nothing to prevent that but he cannot collect more than the five per cent of his interest in the provincial courts. That is the hinge on which the whole act swings from the government side.

During the week the first carloads of cattle from the drouth areas have reached Edmonton, under the relief arrangement between the federal government, the province and railways. These cattle were shipped to Swift Canadian Ltd. and to P. Burns & Co., for processing and they will be followed by other shipments from various drouth areas. The first carload to reach Edmonton came from Coronation district.

Edmonton citizens are smiling over the figures of the last dominion census which place this capital ahead of Calgary in population by 2,372. The southern city is not too well pleased over being displaced as ninth city in the dominion, but there can be little question as to the future growth of the two cities. With the drier south from which to draw its prosperity, Calgary is handicapped in the race, while Edmonton as the natural doorway for the vast north country, is bound to grow tremendously in the next few years. It was predicted here during the week that the day was not far distant when Edmonton will be as large as Winnipeg. It is now the ninth city in Canada.

It was announced by Hon. E. C. Manning that debts contracted for seed grain advances made to farmers by arrangement between the province and the mortgage companies will be exempted by order-in-council from the operation of the debt reduction act. Accounts owing to approved hospitals will also be exempted.

Kinsella Kernels.

We are glad to report that Miss Edith Watson is getting along very well, and is expected home the end of the week.

Mr. E. C. Williams and Miss Dorothy were in the city on Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Stronach and daughter and Miss Violet Williams were visiting in Wainwright on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Crouse, Mr. and Mrs. John Crouse and Miss Rosie motored to the city Monday. Mrs. Crouse took a bad turn and collapsed on the street and was taken to the hospital and her condition was not very favorable the first of the week.

We would like to correct an error in last week's news items. Mr. Shippy passed away in Mannville hospital and not in Viking.

Mr. F. Murray and family were guests of Mrs. G. Murray in Viking on Sunday.

Mrs. S. Murray of Viking and her daughter, Miss Mabel of Vancouver, were visiting friends in town one day last week.

Miss Dora Eckart is spending the week with her aunt, Mrs. J. Allan.

Mr. F. Murray took a load of hogs to the city on Thursday last.

Miss Ella Cormack spent the week-end at her home north of town.

Old Timers Celebrate Their Golden Wedding

On Sept. 22nd, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Currie of the Albert district near Irma, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Their marriage was solemnized at Edmonton, P.E.I., in 1886 by Rev. A. F. Carr. Mrs. G. Gordon, of Edmonton, now visiting her sister, Mrs. Currie, was a guest at the wedding of 50 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Currie settled in this district in 1916 and in the course of a few years had the satisfaction of seeing their entire family married and located on farms within easy range of the parental home.

The family consisted of two daughters, Mrs. G. W. Hardy (deceased), and Mrs. A. R. McRoberts, and four sons: Ivan, Gerald, Leigh and David. Three of the boys served in the Great War. Nineteen grandchildren, ranging in age from 1 to 21 years, have been added to the family.

Over 70 guests called at the farm home of this well known couple on the eventful day and tarried for a chat, a cup of tea and a piece of the three-tier wedding cake, which had been beautifully decorated by Miss W. Reeves. Mr. and Mrs. Currie received many beautiful gifts and good wishes for many future years of life together from their host of friends.

Out of district guests included: Mr. and Mrs. J. Herriek and little daughter, Miss Daisy Herriek, of Kinella; Mr. and Mrs. J. Reeves and Mrs. Wm. Brickman, of Mannville; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McLean, of Education Point; Mrs. Cliff Saville, of Lewisville; Mrs. and Miss Flewelling; Mrs. Tate, Mr. and Mrs. R. McFarland, Rev. E. F. Kemp and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Tripp, all of Irma.

SHOWER FOR MISS HIGGINSON

A very happy event took place at the home of Mrs. I. S. Reeds last Friday evening in the form of a miscellaneous shower. Miss Elizabeth Higginson was the guest of honor and the large number of useful and lovely gifts showed the high esteem in which she is held by her host of town and country friends. Miss Higginson is the daughter of Mrs. G. N. C. Higginson and the late Mr. Higginson, and has lived all her life in Irma and district to which she will return to make her future home following her marriage to Mr. Calvin Urquhart.

The Irma Times join their many friends in wishing this popular young couple health, wealth and happiness.

Equitability In Debt Adjustment

With governments, boards of adjudication and arbitration and organizations innumerable all imbued with different ideas on the subject, the process of deflating the indebtedness of farmers in the prairie provinces, generally referred to as debt adjustment, is an exceedingly complicated problem.

It is not rendered any the less so because the problem is being dealt with by a multiplicity of tribunals with varying degrees of authority and some with none at all, and in view of the fact that the human element is a very important factor in straightening out the tangled affairs of the debtors on a reasonable basis and at the same time to the satisfaction of both parties to amended contracts.

The large number of debtors involved, the wide variations in the nature and terms of the agreements from which some easement is sought, the great spread in circumstances and conditions under which the debtors have been and still are operating, the wide range in the capacity and ability of the land to produce, as well as other factors, conspire to prevent the placing of debt adjustment on a mathematically scientific basis and for this reason, decisions of tribunals and new agreements made on a voluntary basis may not always appear on the face of them, to be equitable when compared with other decrees and other agreements.

Where voluntary adjustments are made by mutual consent of debtor and creditor, either directly or through the mediation of a board, the question of equitability is not an important consideration. So long as the two parties involved can reach a decision satisfactory to both, the terms are of no concern to any other person.

But where the terms of a new agreement are imposed on debtor and creditor by a tribunal armed with enforcement authority, the question assumes a different complexion. Under such circumstances, while as stated at the outset, agreements cannot be made to comply with any rigid mathematical formulae for the reasons sets forth, every effort should be made to establish fundamental principles and policies which will ensure the nearest possible approximation to equitability.

Some, perhaps all of the boards operating in the three provinces have already enunciated principles trending in this direction to which they are prepared to adhere as closely as circumstances permit. They have announced that the chief objective of their decisions is to keep the farmer on the land and enable him to carry on. From this it follows that new contracts authorized must comprise terms within the capacity and ability of the farmer-debtor to comply. At the same time they must be fair and reasonable from the creditors' viewpoint, if for no other reason, for the sake of availability of future credit.

The Federal Board of Review in Saskatchewan, however, has gone even further than enunciating the general principles outlined above. In a recent announcement the board declared that after the total amount of real estate mortgage indebtedness to be repaid has been determined, new agreements will cover a ten year period, providing for repayment of principal sums in ascending scale, the agreement to bear a maximum interest rate of six per cent. with provision for suspension of payment in years of crop failure.

Whether or not the precise terms outlined meet general approval, the effort to provide for some measure of uniformity of general debt adjustment provisions is a step in the right direction and should similar policies be adopted by the boards in the provinces of Alberta and Manitoba, as is intimated they are likely to do, a further step forward in the direction of equitability will have been made.

Recently the United Farmers of Canada suggested that some provision should be made for appeal from decisions of the Boards of Review but if the general principles and policies which have been promulgated, at least by the Board in Saskatchewan, are followed as closely as varying circumstances permit, it is reasonable to assume that requests for the right of appeal will presently dissolve.

If a generally satisfactory degree of equitability can be made effective in decrees of the respective boards and if debtor and creditor will approach negotiations under voluntary mediation in a spirit of reasonableness much of the difficulty of debt adjustment will automatically be dissipated and what is now a complicated problem will be materially simplified and costs of the undertaking much reduced.

Stresses Water Conservation

Irrigation Necessary On Prairies Opinion Of John Vallance

The necessity of water conservation as planned under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, not only for Saskatchewan but for the three western provinces was stressed by John Vallance, senior officer of the act, in an address to a joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs in the Hotel Saskatchewan, Regina, recently.

Irrigation must be developed in every possible area, the speaker declared, in order to supplement the whole feed supply in the entire drought sections.

Present plans for water conservation, by the act, he said, consist of the forming of large storage basins in areas where the spring run-off could be conserved. He said that larger development of the project was necessary.

Assistance will be given individuals and groups of farmers by the P.F.R.A.

Has Made Last Attempt

Hugh Rutledge Gives Up Idea Of Scaling Mount Everest

Hugh Rutledge, leader of the 1936 Mount Everest expedition, which was beaten by bad weather, says he has made his last attempt to scale the world's highest peak.

In future he will live in a yacht with Brinkham, Devon, as his base, and will be satisfied with climbing smaller mountains.

He outlined these plans when he arrived at Plymouth from India. "I saw Mount Everest at its worst," he said, "we reached a height of 20,000 feet, but never had a chance because the monsoon broke earlier than ever before."

Mr. Rutledge believes that Everest will be climbed one day. "There will be no difficulty in obtaining permission for another expedition," he said, "the old objection on religious grounds by the Tibetan government has vanished. We were entertained most hospitably at a monastery 16 miles from our base camp."

The 300 monks there offered prayers for our success, and blessed us on the eve of our departure.

"Strange beliefs still exist, however," for instance, it is believed that moving a stone means the release of an evil spirit, and we had some difficulty when we wanted to remove boulders from our path at the beginning of the ascent."

Mr. Rutledge added, "I shall never climb Everest. At 51 I am too old, I shall still climb smaller peaks, and they are often harder than the biggest mountains."

Purchase Canadian Seed Grain

Russian Representative Here To Secure Rust-Resistant Grain

Best new type of Canadian wheat chosen for their rust-resistant and good hard milling qualities, are being bought in experimental quantities as seed for potential widespread planting in the Soviet Union, it was announced at Edmonton by A. S. Essipov, top executive in charge of grain experimentation for the entire U.S.S.R.

Mr. Essipov, whose headquarters are in Moscow, came to Edmonton to confer with Dr. K. W. Neatby, professor of the fields crops division of the University of Alberta, to arrange for purchase of some seed grain and to study the activities of several leading seed growers in the Edmonton district.

Mr. Essipov, whose portfolio is "chief of the state plant-breeding fund of the Soviet people's commissariat of agriculture," declared that the Soviet is definitely not in the export market in competition with Canada as far as grain is concerned.

He would like to see trade relations with Canada re-established, he said, and he hoped that the recent Moscow visit of Hon. W. D. Euler, federal minister of trade and commerce, may lead to a resumption of the Soviet-Canadian trade which was stopped by the Dominion a few years ago.

Gang Warfare

Gangsters Cause Trouble For Police In London And Glasgow

In London and Glasgow alike war has been declared on gangsters. Two men lay in Balmah hospital. They had been slashed by razors in the eye fight. Police circulated a message asking for news of the gang whose activities have been worrying authorities for some time past.

Glasgow magistrates have decided to "exercise their powers to the fullest extent" to stamp out the city's armed gangs. The chief constable and a special committee reported that gang warfare had spread to such an extent in the east end of Glasgow as to "create considerable anxiety in the minds of the public."

Japanese Were Offended

Exhibit Of Art Objects Carried Design Like Imperial Crest

Because several foreign-made art objects contained decorative motifs which resembled the Japanese Imperial crest, they were ordered to draw by the police from an exhibition in Nihonbashi, Japan. The design is reported to be similar to the chrysanthemum, which appears on the crest. Included were an Italian cake tray, a French stein, a set of hair ornaments and a Japanese ink set. The owners of the objects and interested Japanese were summoned to the police station and compelled to sign an abject apology.

"The national educational secretary reported the bursaries had been awarded in Saskatchewan as follows: Duncan G. Blair, Regina, son of Pte. Duncan Blair, died of wounds; Charlotte D. B. Hardie, Moose Jaw, whose father was killed in action; John Alexander McTavish, Kerrobert. (Particulars incomplete).

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not there, your bowels are constipated. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up and you feel bloated. Bile is the only liquid that goes into the body, and you feel good. A new bowel movement doesn't always get the liver as well. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel like a new man. They do the work of a dozen. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. The name is on the wrapper.

Forecasts Increase In Gold

Minister Of Mines Urges Help For Engineering Students

Expressing confidence that Canada would produce $135,000,000 worth of gold this year, Hon. T. A. Cresser, Minister of Mines and Natural Resources, told the Board of Trade at Timmins, Ont., that no increase in the taxes on the mining industry would be levied "at least during the lifetime of the present government."

The Minister urged the big mining companies which were represented by their chief executives at the meeting to endow scholarships in Canadian Universities for students taking mining engineering courses. It would direct the attention of the people of Canada to the importance of the mining industry and encourage the young men to take up the study of mines. For one scholarship, he suggested that the winner be given a year in the laboratory of the Mines Department at Ottawa.

Last year Canadian mines produced $115,000,000 worth of gold but this year the production looked as if it would reach $135,000,000, and Mr. Cresser prophesied that in five years it would reach $250,000,000.

Adventurers Saved

Waged Battle Against Snow In Himalayan Mountains

Five men, including Fazal Elahie of the Survey of India, were carried into Mussoorie, all suffering badly from exposure and frost bite, after being marooned for seven days near the famous Gangotri glacier, India, at a height of 18,000 feet.

The party, counting on the fine weather, had sent back their coolies ten miles to bring up rations, which was so soft that they sank in it up to their necks and could only make progress by crawling on their hands and knees and by tunnelling.

Then the rescue party arrived and they were helped and carried down the remaining three miles to camp and, after a few days' rest were subsequently taken in to Mussoorie for treatment. All of them were making good progress and should recover completely.

Deserted Town

Baron Tweedsmuir And Party Pay Visit To Bankhead

A Rocky Mountain ghost town, Bankhead, above which towers the 10,000-foot peak of Cascade mountain, was visited recently by Canada's governor-general, Baron Tweedsmuir and Lady Tweedsmuir.

In the once prosperous town deserted a few years ago by its 2,000 inhabitants when work in a mine, its chief source of industry, was halted, stands a lone cenotaph, to commemorate the miners' war dead. There the governor-general stood in silent prayer after placing a wreath in tribute to the warriors. Only a few persons witnessed the ceremony.

Paying tribute to the part played by Canadian soldiers in the Great War, Baron Tweedsmuir warned that Canada must still fight for her place among the nations of the world.

To the Banff school children whom he visited, he said: "Think of your king not only as your king, but also as your neighbor."

Eighty-Seven-Year-Old Man Exhibits Exquisite Work

One of the most enthusiastic needleworkers who visited the Women's Building at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, was Thomas W. Willoughby, formerly of Burlington, and now of Newmarket, according to a report from the Women's Building.

He announced his age to be 87, and after showing a practically disabled right hand, opened a box of fine linen embroidered in silks with shaded colors.

"I do this to fill in my time; to cure loneliness," said Mr. Willoughby. "But I want you ladies to understand that I had never had a needle in my hands until a few years ago. Of course, as a boy, I used to hook rugs, but this is different." Mr. Willoughby's exhibit received a special display in the building, according to the report for completion.

Little Things Count

Springs are little things, but they are sources of large streams; a helm is a little thing, but it governs the course of a ship; a bridge-bolt is a little thing, but it secures its use and power; nuts and pegs are little things, but they hold the large parts of buildings together; a word, a look, a frown—are all little things, but powerful for good or evil. Think of this, and mind the little things.

Scotch Curse Effective

Ancient Stronghold Turned Into Playground For The Wealthy

On the mountainside where the Campbells massacred the MacGregors, a kinsman of the Earl of Breadalbane raised beautiful Taymouth Castle, which every MacGregor and MacDonald has cursed these last two centuries.

And now the curses of the MacGregors have come true. The last mighty Campbell, the Laird of Breadalbane, can no longer afford to keep up his giant fortress, and the ancient stronghold of his mighty Scottish clan is now a hotel and playground for the wealthy.

Question Is Settled

Scientists Come To Conclusion Animals Have No Souls

Scientists working with delicate apparatus in a Kensington laboratory have settled a question that has caused endless controversy in every part of the world:—

Have animals souls?

Do our pets survive after death? Dr. Nandor Fodor, an internationally-known psychological research expert, asked Mr. B. J. Hopper, M. Sc., one of the most brilliant of British physicists, to begin experiments that would answer the question.

Now, after experimenting on mice, birds, frogs and cockroaches, both scientists issue this statement:

There is no evidence that animals have souls or any existence after death.

Argument on the subject suddenly increased when Dr. R. A. Watters, director of the Dr. William Bernhard Johnston Foundation for Psychological Research at Reno, Nevada, started the world with his claim two years ago:

That he had photographed "souls" leaving the bodies of animals killed in a specially-constructed chamber.

His photographs, he said, showed the shadowy "souls" of animals which resembled the physical bodies in shape.

Dr. Nandor Fodor started experiments at the International Institute for Physical Research, Kensington.

"The results," Dr. Nandor Fodor told the Sunday Chronicle recently, "were disappointing. We were unable, despite the most thorough examination, to confirm the American claims which had been hailed by Spiritualists as proof of the existence of survival."

Flower From The Tropics

Giant Arum Lily Attracts Crowds To Holland Hothouse

A giant arum lily, eight feet high and three and a half feet across is attracting crowds to the hothouse of the Agricultural High School at Wageningen, in Holland. It is growing from a bulb that weighs six stone four pounds. The lily, which is from the tropics, seldom blossoms. The flower lasts only two days. It blossomed the first time in July, 1932, and is the only specimen in Europe.

Left Brief Will

The fate of $5,440,000 was decided by six lines of writing in Melbourne, Australia. The money was the fortune of Mr. Benjamin Nathan, senior partner in a furniture warehouse firm. His will, a six-line document, has now been proved. It divides the money between his two married daughters.

Thou Shalt Not Love

— A NOVEL BY —
GEORGIA GRAIG

I told myself then that if I saw you again that it would be a sign to me that at last I had found the girl I wanted. Heaven knows I've turned the town upside down looking for somebody who could look the part, as well as act it. When I saw you again tonight—well, you know what I said—Three times and out. I guess you didn't understand. He leaned over and looked her straight in the eyes. "I don't know who you are, nor anything about you, except for the essential things I asked you. I don't want to know anything else. The past is gone. Your life begins this minute."

"You want to play—to be envied, loved. . . . I'll make you the talk of the town—do a better press agent job than any movie actress ever heard of. It's a natural. You'll start out with an advantage no siren in history ever had. Your reputation is already made for you! All you'll have to do is live up to it! It won't be with a Broadway background, either. It will be among the 'best people' in town, those with whom you'll mingle, on whom you'll cast your spell. Your every wish shall be realized. You are beautiful—which of course you know. I'll provide the clothes and all the stage scenery. Every woman in town will be envious of you; every man will want to make love to you. Play up to it. Play!"

He paused to let his words sink in. To Starr it was still a part of that unreal dream she was sure was not yet finished. But he looked real enough. His voice was no figment of her imagination, his earnestness sincere. He pressed his advantage, seeing her quiescence.

"All I ask is that you keep your name in the headlines—not of course with any remotest connection of a Starr Ellison that was. That girl's dead from this minute on—dead and buried. A new one, the famous, or infamous author, has arisen in her place." He could not, or would not, see the stricken look in Starr's eyes as he made his emphasis, nor could he know of the choke in her throat that kept her from crying out. "Dead and buried"—he had said. . . . He was interested only in his own scheming. "Starr Ellison, the author, must be kept on the front page, if possible, right from the go-off. I don't care how. It won't matter. What will be of account will be that every mention you get will increase the sales of the book. You'll make a fortune for me—and I will pay you accordingly."

He stopped and studied her a moment more, nodded his satisfaction.

"Yes, you look the type all right—knew it from the start—with those mysterious eyes of yours and all. . . . We'll have to cook up some kind of story—you gave me an idea with those few words of Arab gab of yours—a small matter—leave all that to me. The important thing is that you grasp your role. If you haven't by any chance read the book I'll tell you that my 'Play-Girl' is a symbol of blatant sex appeal, beauty without emotion, without a soul! Do you understand? Do you think you can live the part?"

Could she? Dared she try? Oh, yes, she understood, and the understanding was rather staggering. The bold, devil-may-care, social-climbing Michael Fairbourne was ashamed of the book he had authored. He wanted to hide behind the skirts of a woman—so that his precious royalties could go on!

Starr was to help him make a fortune, so that he could marry the proud Stephanie. She was to sacrifice her own personality—he didn't care the flick of a wrist about that; he had said so in no unmistakable terms. She was to quit being the Starr Ellison she had known for almost twenty-three years and allow herself to evolve into a glamorous fiction character, a creation of the brilliant mind of Michael Fairbourne! Who was ashamed of it.

She flung up her head proudly, in that gesture her father had so often likened to the disdainful hauteur of his beloved ancient Egyptian princess. She wanted to tell him—so many things. Then she wilted. The realization of everything came back to her; things she had forgotten; the six months of life—Tut-Amen-Ra—Ama-Sun. . . .

Michael Fairbourne wanted her to do this thing. Well, why not? Six months of life, after all, were all she had left. She would have no future in which to harbor any lingering regrets. She had raised against the fate which condemned her to be a drab, falling star. This man was giving her the chance to flash through those last six months, a flaming meteor. It could be Fate—an answer to her defiance of the Egyptian gods and their curses.

To do as he asked meant that she could drink deep of the gay wine of life. In her few months she could crowd in a lifetime of thrills. Defy grim destiny in a reckless round of pleasure. Surely she had the right to do that, she who was doomed?

A strange excitement possessed her suddenly. Her cameo features glowed. She said impulsively: "I can do it!"

Michael's hand came across the table. A big warm hand clasping her cold small one to seal their bargain. She lifted her lashes to look at him out of her long, mysterious eyes. It didn't seem just exactly right. She must make some protest. After all, if they were to be so intimately associated, would it not be better if she confessed to him—a few things. She said softly:

"But after all, we're strangers. . . . Why should we trust one another—so far? You know nothing of me. . . ."

He flung up his head, smiled enigmatically, but the hardness in his tone was not so noticeable. "I thought we'd passed that. But what does it matter? Strangers—yes, perhaps. But do any of us ever truly know each other? Even after we've lived in close companionship all our lives? Aren't we lonely souls all of us? Strangers?" The one brief glimpse he allowed her into his inner mind passed instantly. Once again he was the coldly calculating business man. He mentioned then, as though it were an afterthought:

"It's only fair to tell you that the job won't last forever. It may not last long at all. That's rather up to you—and to me. I suppose, as your manager-press agent. Public fancy is fickle. You will be 'Play-Girl' only as long as people are interested in the book. It may possibly be but a few months. Then you will have to go back—wherever you came from."

A dagger of ice stabbed at Starr's heart. Her great black eyes assumed that wistful, haunting expression, that suggestion as of looking upon things remote and unearthly, which was part of her greatest beauty.

She murmured, as though to herself: "A few months will be enough."

CHAPTER VI.

"We've got to have a background for you," Michael had said, not in the least interested that Starr might have a perfectly good one, ready-made. And so he proceeded to furnish her with one which would have made an excellent plot for some other book he might some day write. Which suited Starr excellently. In this new role she didn't want to be reminded of the Starr Ellison of tragic days, nor would she have cared to be identified back in New England home town with the Starr Ellison who was the notorious "Play-Girl."

She entered into all Michael's schemes enthusiastically, surprised at herself that she no longer shrank from all his talk about Egypt and Egyptian things. Her communion with the priestess on a vase in the Stucco contractors are busy in and around Irma just now. Mr. Sharkey has finished Jimmie Carter's residence and is now busy at Mr. Tripp's cottage at present occupied by Mr. R. L. Martin. In the year 1906 the husband died while on the farm in the Melbrae district.

The late Mrs. Cooper leaves to mourn her loss, three daughters, Florence, Edith Brown of Hardisty, Emma Kellar of Portland, Ore., and one son, Albert, at home.

Elevator Competition

The business of handling Western grain is not only the most highly regulated but also the most competitive business in Canada.

All country elevators, whether Line elevators or Pool, compete for business. Competition is as keen among Line elevators as it is between Line and Pool elevators. The service given by elevator companies is honest and efficient, as it must necessarily be.

The Alberta Pool advertisements refer to their competitors as a "family compact." There is not and never has been any "family compact" among grain companies any more than there is between Line and Pool elevators.

It is the habit of the Pools in their advertising for competitive business to claim credit for every improvement in agricultural conditions and to blame their competitors for the burdens that remain, whether they arise from world conditions, national conditions or geographical conditions, for which the Line companies are no more responsible than the Pools. Their claim is untrue and unfair.

The Line elevators are as keenly interested as any other organization in a good price for the farmer, in his prosperity and in the improvement of the external and internal conditions that affect his welfare.
